The Road Goes Ever On

"The Road Goes Ever On" is a title that encompasses several walking songs that J. R. R. Tolkien wrote for his Middle-earth legendarium. Within the stories, the original song was composed by Bilbo Baggins and recorded in The Hobbit. Different versions of it also appear in The Lord of the Rings, along with some similar walking songs. The walking song gives its name to Donald Swann's 1967 song-cycle The Road Goes Ever On, where it is the first in the list.

The Road Goes Ever On is a 1967 song cycle that has been published as a book of sheet music and as an audio recording. The music was written by Donald Swann, and the words are taken from poems in J. R. R. Tolkien 's Middle-earth writings, especially The Lord of the Rings.

The Road Goes Ever On - Wikipedia

Roads go ever ever on,
Under cloud and under star.
Yet feet that wandering have gone Turn at last to home afar.
Eyes that fire and sword have seen, And horror in the halls of stone Look at last on meadows green,
And trees and hills they long have known. The Road goes ever on and on Down from the door

“The Road goes ever on and on Down from the door where it began. Now far ahead the Road has gone, And I must follow, if I can, Pursuing it with eager feet, Until it joins some larger way Where many paths and errands meet. And whither then? I cannot say” — J.R.R. Tolkien, The Fellowship of the Ring

Analysis of The Road Goes Ever On by J.R.R. Tolkien Roads Go Ever On by J. R. R. Tolkien. Roads go ever ever on, Over rock and under tree, By caves where never sun has shone,

By streams that never find the sea; Over snow by winter sown,
And through the merry flowers of June, Over grass and over stone, And under mountains in the moon.
